

Curriculum Design Intern:

Are you passionate about blended education that promotes literacy and global citizenship? Do you thrive in a collaborative, entrepreneurial environment? Are you interested in designing educational experiences for K-12 students from the US, China, and around the globe? If so - we'd love to hear from you!

About Us:

Knovva Academy is an education startup that strives to provide the best in blended learning, project-based education. We work with students in China and in the United States, online and in-person, to prepare them to meet the academic and professional demands of the 21st century. Located in Boston's innovative Seaport District (30 min from HGSE on the red line), we offer interns an exciting, entrepreneurial, internationally diverse environment with lots of learning and future growth opportunities.

Position Overview:

We are looking for Curriculum Design Interns to work with our academic team and help develop blended learning products on subjects spanning from social innovation to literature and STEM. We work mainly with high school and middle school students, but are expanding into younger grades (K-5), so please reach out if you are interested in any of these age groups and let us know what you are passionate about.

Internships are 8-10 hours a week, for one semester (specific schedule flexible).

What You'll Do:

- Create curriculum for our students that is relevant, interesting, and motivating for a variety of subjects
- Create teacher-facing materials for a flipped classroom model
- Conduct research on a range of academic subjects and provide recommendations
- Collaborate with members of the academic team and act as a thought-partner on course design, business opportunities and new directions in blended learning and ed-tech

Required Qualifications:

- A passion to improve literacy, motivate students through exciting content that is relevant to their lives, and provide students with an opportunity to grow their global perspective by connecting with like minded students from around the world
- Experience developing and differentiating curricula that responds to a diversity of students' needs, including English Language Learners, at the high school level
- Ability to work independently and on a team in a diverse, international environment
- Enthusiasm for blended and online learning and ability to adapt content to an online setting
- Creativity, a sense of humor, patience, and strong communication skills

Preferred Qualifications:

- Familiarity with or skilled in: interdisciplinary or cultural literacy content and delivery
- Experience with: startup, education industry, or high school teaching / administration

To Apply: Please submit resume and cover letter to careers@knovva.com and include a cover letter highlighting any relevant interests or skills, and an answer to the question: What do you hope to gain from this internship?
